In the year 1937; Franklin Roosevelt was President. The Great Depression was nearing an end. The cost of a stamp was 3 cents. The Hindenburg exploded. Amelia Earhart vanished over the Pacific Ocean. Gone with the Wind won the Pulitzer Prize. The Glenn Miller Band debuted in New York. The Golden Gate Bridge was completed.

Here in Kansas City a little white diner opened unceremoniously on 24th and Broadway and began selling hamburgers for 5 cents each. Its name was Town Topic Hamburgers. It was opened by Claude Sparks who at the end of his first day pocketed a whopping $21.00. A Humble Beginning.

Well, its more that 75 years later and Town Topic is still selling hamburgers by the bag full. We still cook them the same way with grilled onions and a steamed bun. We also have the same full breakfast line we have always had, all cooked fresh to order. In fact, the downtown diners haven't changed a whole lot since the early days.

Stop in sometime and take your place at the historic counter. Have an old-fashioned hamburger & hand dipped malt, steamy homemade chili, fresh breakfast, a piece of pie & coffee or an ice cold Coca-Cola all prepared right in front of you. There are many regular customers who have frequented the establishments for years and they all have great old stories to tell about this wonderful city we call home- just ask them, At Town Topic Hamburgers you can step back in time, if only for a little while.
